FACULTY BACKS PLAN OF LAW PUBLICATION

New University Publication To Be Devoted Entirely to the Interest of the Law School.

It is now apparent that before long another publication will appear at George Washington. This is not to be a newspaper or a humorous magazine, but one confined strictly to law.

The progress of the investigation which has been made this winter as to the feasibility of publishing a law review at George Washington has been highly encouraging. The committee has canvassed the student body, and they have responded heartily. The faculty, too, have shown great interest.

Last Saturday the following letter was sent to each member of the Alumni Association of the Law School, some 600, which tells in brief just what has been done:

"Dear Sir: Last December at the instance of a committee of students of the Law School, the faculty took the following action with respect to the proposed publication of a Law Review: 'It was resolved . . . that on condition that means for the proper financing of a Law School Journal be provided, the faculty (a) recommends that the Board of Trustees approve the publication of such a Law School Journal and (b) that the faculty undertake to edit such a journal. . . . That it is the sense of the faculty that the subscription price of the Law School Quarterly be $2.50 per year.'"

"In pursuance thereof the committee actively undertook to determine what support was available, and to date 52 per cent of the students of the Law School have pledged their subscriptions to the proposed Law Review. An underwriting fund has been created, and to date $570 has been subscribed thereto. This brings the total to $1,600. It is confidently expected that the alumni of the school will support this proposition as well as the faculty and students have done.

"It is the desire of those who have the matter in charge to publish the first number not later than next November. It is obvious that before this can be done the whole-hearted support of all those who are interested will be necessary not only by word but by their subscriptions.

"There is inclosed herewith a post card for your convenience. Just sign it and put your class and address on it and drop it in the mail. As a member of the Columbian-George Washington Law School Association you will be kept posted as to the progress of the undertaking through the Bulletin.

"The Law School looks to you for your support. Sincerely yours,
"PHILBRICK MCCOY, Chairman."

The cards have already started back, and quite a number have been received.

It is hoped that fully half of these alumni will so respond. Later the remaining alumni and interested outsiders will be approached. If they respond as is hoped, the committee plans to take the faculty recommendations before the Board of Trustees and endeavor to secure their support both verbally and financially. If they will give it, the publication next fall, as planned, is assured.

Of those mentioned in the letter as having signed the underwriting agreement, it might be mentioned that the list includes 15 members of the faculty, headed by Dean Ferson.

Statistics showing exactly how much has been accomplished will be published from time to time in these columns as soon as it is possible to determine the extent of the response of the alumni.

SENIOR LAW CLASS PLANS INFORMAL DINNER

Propose to Give Portrait of Dean Ferson to Law School.

The activities committee of the Senior Law Class, consisting of Frances Parks, S. S. Fitzgerald and J. C. Frey, is planning an informal dinner to be held either the last week in March or the first week of April. The place has not yet been definitely decided upon.

Another form of activity being taken up is the collection of funds from the members of the class for the purpose of having a portrait made of Dean Ferson, the painting to be left as the gift of the Class of '21 to the Law School.

JACK DAILY TO LEAD NEXT YEAR'S TOSSERS

Basketball Letter Men Elect Daily, of Football and Basketball Fame, To Captain Next Team.

At a meeting of the basketball letter men held March 8, John R. Daily, who played a brilliant game at guard and was one of the mainstays of the team this season until he was taken sick during the latter part of the season, was elected to be next year's captain.

"Jack" Daily is a junior in the Law School and hails from Peoria, Ill., where he attended high school, winning letters in football, basketball and baseball, proving to be an all-around athlete. Since coming to George Washington University, he has played guard on the 1919 basketball team, fullback on the 1920 football squad and guard on this year's basketball team. His election as captain of the 1921 basketball team by his teammates is in recognition of his stellar playing in the back court and the belief that he will make as good a floor leader as a player. Daily is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The prospects for next year's basketball team are exceedingly bright, as all of this year's letter men will be back again, with Daily to captain them. With the added experience and the able coaching of Bryan Morse, the team expects to have a very successful season.

CANDIDATES CALLED TO TRACK MEETING MARCH 18

G. W. Sprinters Will Take on Heavy Schedule; Triangular Meet at C. U. April 23rd.

Everybody interested in track athletics is urged to attend the meeting of the track team to be held at Lisner Hall Saturday evening, March 19, at 8 o'clock.

The track team has a very heavy and interesting schedule of meets to participate in this season. On the 23rd of April a triangular meet will be held between George Washington, Maryland University and Catholic University. This meet should show some excellent competition and also furnish an index as to the best men to enter in the Penn Relay Carnival, which will be held the 29th and 30th of April, and the South Atlantic Championship meet, which will be held at Georgetown this year on the 15th and 16th of May. However, before that meet, George Washington intends to participate in a dual meet with Gallaudet on the 7th of May. As yet, this last meet is only tentative.

Thirteen colleges will be represented in the South Atlantic Championship meet, which will be held at Georgetown. The following schools will send teams: George Washington, University of Maryland, Catholic University, Richmond College, Virginia Poly. Institute, Virginia Military Institute, Washington and Lee, Johns Hopkins, University of North Carolina, St. Johns College, University of Virginia, and Georgetown.

All positions on the team are still open to the best men. Nothing definite has been decided about the composition of either the relay teams or individual events.

TEMPLE OVERWHELMS G. W. U. GIRLS' TEAM

The varsity basketball team traveled to Philadelphia Friday, March 11, to play a return game with Temple College. The varsity took the little end of a 54-15 score.

The game was characterized by a great deal of fouling on the part of both teams, but Temple made better use of her opportunities at free throw and scored 8 points from 4 fouls.

Altogether, the game was a disappointment to the G. W. basketballers, who had hoped to win this game from Temple, to wipe out the defeat suffered at the hands of that college when their team visited here just a month ago. The last game of the season will be played with Fredericksburg Normal, and the team is eager to win their last game. All girls who have played in six out of nine games will be awarded a G. W. Line-up:

Temple.	Position.	G. W. U.
Lurie.	R. F.	Woodford
Casey.	L. F.	Pickering
Sharpe.	C.	Proctor
Kuhl.	S. C.	Saunders
Trimble.	R. G.	Dunham
Newcomb.	L. G.	DeGrange

THIRTY CANDIDATES OUT FOR BASEBALL

Many More Expected to Augment Squad; Team to Meet Georgetown University April 18.

More than 30 candidates reported to Coach Bryan Morse at the baseball meeting held Monday night, March 14, at 8 o'clock in Lisner Hall. Many more are expected to report who were not present at the meeting.

After taking the names of the men who reported for the team, Coach Morse announced that the first practice would be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 16, at diamond four, Seventeenth and B Streets Northwest. Practice will be held there every day in the week at 2:30 and last until time for the evening classes at 5. The coach emphasized the fact that the team must have a great deal of practice, as the schedule calls for 14 games, most of these games being with strong teams of this section, such as Georgetown and Johns Hopkins.

Manager Roger Almond, who was elected by the Student Council to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Ed. Hanson, is to be congratulated on the schedule he has arranged for the team. The complete schedule is as follows: April 2, Alexandria Cardinals; April 6, St. Johns, at home; April 9, Gallaudet, at Kendall Green; April 14, William and Mary, at home; April 18, Georgetown, at Georgetown; April 26, Trinity, at home; April 27, St. John, at Annapolis; April 28, Villanova, at home; May 4, Gallaudet, at home; May 6, Mount St. Marys, at Emmitsburg, Md.; May 7, Villanova, at Villanova; May 10, Maryland College, at Westminster; and a game pending with Johns Hopkins.

When asked, Manager Almond said: "I think we have a good chance to come through the season all right. If the students will back us up. It is especially up to the day students to come out for the team. It is an imposition on the students who work in the daytime and go to school in the evening to expect them to bear the burden of carrying on the school's athletics."

LACK OF SUFFICIENT RUMMAGE CUTS PROFIT

Cleaves One Hundred and Forty Dollars on Sale—Close Early Because of Lack of Supplies.

From the rummage sale, which was held by the Senior Classes of the Department of Arts and Sciences, a profit of $140 was made. The sale began the morning of February 28 and continued through the evening of March 5 and was held at 2018 Georgia Avenue. At the close of the sale everything donated had been disposed of, the store being as bare as when the sale commenced.

The one feature of the sale which was not as satisfactory as it should have been was the poor support given by the several Senior Classes as compared with the efforts made by the classes of the undergraduates. Miss Martha Waring, the chairman of the rummage sale, said that while the profit yielded by the sale was considerable, yet had more goods been contributed it could have easily been sold as several times during the course of the sale it was necessary to close early because of the shortage of salable goods.

As a precedent for the coming Senior Classes to follow in the future the sale was also considered a success for through it some preparation at least was made to defray the expenses attendant upon Senior Week. Had the profits been larger, it was the plan of the Senior Classes to leave behind them some memorial in the University as a record of their attendance at G. W. U., and even though the amount realized was not as great as it might have been, it may yet be possible for the Senior Classes to establish their memorial in the halls of the University.

DEBATING SOCIETY TO MEET.

The Columbian Debating Society will hold its regular meeting at the Law School Friday evening, March 18, at 8 o'clock.

SENIORS WILL SUPPORT HONOR SYSTEM PLAN

Fresh of Arts and Sciences Department Pledged to Observe Honor System.

Following the example of the Senior Class of Columbian College and that of the Teachers' College, the Freshman Class of the School of Arts and Sciences met Tuesday night, March 15, in the chapel of Lisner Hall and solemnly pledged themselves to observe the honor system of George Washington University.

The honor system is defined as "the placing of the responsibility for recitation in examinations and recitations upon the student body. It is the object of the system to have a committee selected from each of the classes in school. This committee shall be composed of the president and secretary of the class, together with five other members elected by the class.

Every member is to consider himself a personal committee of one to report to one of the honor committeemen of the class any breach of the code that he observes. This committeeman is to confer with the rest of his committee and if they think the charge is justified an investigation will be carried out. The charge then will be taken to the Student Council, who shall sit in secret session, and the committee will act as judges.

The other classes in George Washington University are expected to follow closely the example set by these classes. Although up to this time the honor system has been supposed to govern the actions of George Washington students, it has signally failed, and this expedient is expected to bring it up to the standard which is employed in other universities.

BALTIMORE TEAM WINS TITLE AT TOURNAMENT

G. W. Presents Plaque to Baltimore City College Tossers, Winners of S. A. Tournament.

Flashing an exceptionally fast quint, Baltimore City College led the way in the South Atlantic Tournament held under the auspices of the G. W. Club of George Washington University last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The title game was played at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 12, at the Central Coliseum, Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue.

Eastern High, of this city, was defeated by Baltimore City College in the first game, Thursday afternoon, giving the quint from the Monumental City a right to play in the semi-finals. Friday afternoon Central High, Washington, was given the short end of a 26-20 count by the Baltimore boys, thus eliminating Central from the finals. The same afternoon Technical romped away with Western, hanging up its victory to the tune of 32-16, and gaining the right to meet the quint from the Maryland metropolis for final honors.

The local champions proved easy for the Baltimore champions, as the count of 27-14 clearly shows. The result of the game was never in doubt, the Orioles clearly outplaying their opponents, so that no one can say they won the tournament by a fluke or by luck.

For winning the tournament, the team was presented a plaque by the G. W. Club, under whose auspices the meet was held, while each member was given a fob with the George Washington University seal engraved on it.

JUNIORS OF TEACHERS' COLLEGE HOLD MEETING

A class meeting of the Teachers' College Juniors was held in the chapel in Lisner Hall March 9, 1921. Gladys Twede, the president, read a letter from the Student Council in regard to the honor system instituted in George Washington University. A committee of five, consisting of Cora and Margaret Quest, Margaret Beck, Bertha Lucas and Eunice Crabtree were chosen to enforce the honor system governing examinations.

If any student is apprehended by any member of the committee of cheating during examinations, the Student Council will be notified. Then the student will be brought before the attention of the Student Council.

The class dues for the semester were fixed at 50 cents. In order to

G. W. WINS SECOND MATCH FROM W. & L.

Buff and Blue Swimmers Win With Overwhelming Score of 52-19; Dickey Makes 13 Points.

Taking first honors in every event but two and annexing all the second places with one exception, George Washington swimmers handed a 52-19 defeat to their visitors, Washington and Lee, in a dual meet held Saturday night, March 12, in the Y. M. C. A., 1736 G Street.

The G. W. relay team, composed of Koblegard, MacEwen, Dahlquist and Capt. Dickey, found no difficulty in beating their opponent's relay team. In the 50-yard dash Dahlquist captured first honors, closely followed by his teammate, Koblegard, giving G. W. both first and second places. Last place was left for Stevens, of Washington and Lee.

In the next race, that of the 100-yard dash, first place was captured by Dahlquist, who outpointed his captain, as Dickey took second place for G. W. Third place went to the same man who got the corresponding place in the previous race, that is, Stevens, of the Generals. Maitland, of the Hatchettes, added 5 points to his team's total when he captured first place in the breast stroke. Second place in this event went to Ford Harvey, also of the Hatchettes, while Grinner, of Washington and Lee, was accorded third honors.

Capt. Dickey again placed first in the 50-yard back stroke, while Koblegard, of G. W., and Ruston, of the visitors, again took second and third places, respectively, showing that history repeated itself from the meet held just a week before, at Lexington, Va.

Poch was the first Washington and Lee man to win a first place, and he did this in the fancy diving event. Second place went to Smith, of the Generals, and third to Cary, of the locals. The only other visitor to score a first place was Ruston, who accomplished the deed in the plunge. However, George Washington took the other two places in the personages of Stokes and Cary in second and third position, respectively. MacEwen won the 225-yard dash for the Hatchettes, while Stokes took second place, leaving Benton, of the Generals, third honors.

Individual point scoring honors go to Dahlquist, who led the way in two events and swam on the winning relay team, gaining 15 points for his team. He was followed by Capt. Dickey, who annexed 13 points, as he swam on the winning relay team and got a first and second in two different events. Koblegard is accorded third honors for his work on the relay team and for capturing two second places. Stokes captured two seconds. Finals:

Fifty-yard Dash—Won by Dahlquist, G. W.; second, Koblegard, G. W.; third, Stevens, W. & L.

One hundred-yard Dash—Won by Dahlquist, G. W.; second, Dickey, G. W.; third, Stevens, W. & L.

Breast Stroke—Won by Maitland, G. W.; second, Harvey, G. W.; third, Grinner, W. & L.

Fifty-yard Back Stroke—Won by Dickey, G. W.; second, Koblegard, G. W.; third, Ruston, W. & L.

Fancy Diving—Won by Poch, W. & L.; second, Smith, W. & L.; third, Cary, G. W.

Plunge—Won by Ruston, W. & L.; second, Stokes, G. W.; third, Cary, G. W.

Two hundred and twenty-two-yard Dash—Won by MacEwen, G. W.; second, Stokes, G. W.; third, Benton, W. & L.

PROFESSIONAL FRATERNITIES CANNOT CONTEST FOR CUP

Professional fraternities were debarred from participation in the annual scholarship contest held by the fraternities. This resolution was passed at a meeting held at the Sigma Phi Epsilon House on March 13. The decision was the result of a lively discussion as to the feasibility of permitting professional fraternities to compete with general fraternities for the annual scholarship cup awarded by the Interfraternity Association. The final vote was 6 to 5 in the negative. The professional fraternities in the association affected by this ruling are the Phi Delta Phi and the Phi Alpha Delta Legal fraternities.

raise money to support athletic activities, the girls of the class will have candy for sale Monday. The sale will probably extend throughout the entire week.

Indifference or What?

Nine players may be the only requisite of a baseball team, but considerably more than thirty are needed to constitute an adequate squad. Think of it! Out of upwards of four thousand five hundred students, and perhaps two thousand of these men, thirty possess interest enough to announce themselves candidates for the baseball team! Sounds like a joke. It may be humorous, but it certainly is a pretty sad joke. When a relatively small number of men came forward at the call for football candidates we felt perhaps that it was because the game was a little too strenuous and dangerous for the dance artists at the University. We felt that baseball—a safer game—would give them a chance to redeem themselves. But no! The call to the diamond meets with even less success. Is no man's game sufficiently free from risks so that it will attract the G. W. students in adequate numbers? Must we institute intercollegiate tiddledewinks in order to get enough men to form a team? Or is it that the vast majority of students at the University, which bears the name of a man's man, are so lazy that they are indifferent to all things requiring a little exertion? Laziness is like creeping paralysis; and truly its effect is the same. It starts as just a little numbness and slowly flows over the body, making movement impossible. If laziness is gaining possession of you, come out for the baseball team. It's a sure cure.

Modesty

The other day, one of our fair co-eds was heard to remark: "I don't know why they haven't asked me to draw for 'The Ghost' and as we are of the opinion that there are a few other students at George Washington University who are inclined to wait for a little coaxing before exercising their various talents, we venture the answer." In the present order of things at G. W. U. the people who are working to give the University a prominent place in the sun are confronted with such a big task that they have no time to invite and coax each and every individual to help. But the appeal is made to all through handbooks, posters, and the student publications, so everyone should know that his help is wanted and needed.

STUDENT COUNCIL DANCE.

The second of the series of the Student Council dances will be held some time during the first part of April. The profits of the dance are to be devoted to the interests of the University, and it is urgently requested that everybody will cooperate in making it a successful party by lending their presence. Judging by the turnout at the last dance, given for the football fund, a lot of pep and enthusiasm will tend to make it one of the snappiest parties of the year.

TENNIS MEETING.

IMPORTANT.

Meeting of the candidates for the G. W. men's tennis team at 8 p. m. Monday evening in the chapel of the Arts and Sciences Department, 2023 G Street. Plans will be announced, and it is important that all candidates be present.

MANY COLLEGES PLAN TO CONSTRUCT STADIUMS

California, Carnegie Tech, Dartmouth, Thiel, and Washington State Plan Expenditures Totalling $1,840,000.

Five colleges in various sections of the country have been faced with the same problem as now confronts G. W. U.—the need of adequate athletic facilities—and all of those five colleges have either secured the needed facilities or are planning to obtain them. The University of California is erecting a huge concrete stadium, costing $900,000; Carnegie Tech recently conducted a campaign for $50,000 to be spent for athletic equipment; Dartmouth plans to erect an athletic field costing $360,000 in memory of her 90 dead heroes of the great war, and has already added a swimming pool, which cost $130,000. Thiel College has decided to build a $100,000 gymnasium, and Washington State College plans the erection of two gymnasiums, costing $300,000.

The inability of the University of California to accommodate all of the spectators at her games has caused the students to decide to erect a huge stadium of the "bowl" type, which will be completed in time for the gridiron contests of 1921.

For two weeks Carnegie Tech conducted a drive for $50,000. Eighteen thousand graduates and former students were appealed to to aid their Alma Mater. The public also received an urgent appeal. A novel feature of the drive was the presentation of tickets to the home games to contributors to the fund. It is seldom that contributors receive a return for their generosity, but the plan worked very well in the Carnegie Tech drive.

After adding a $130,000 swimming pool, Dartmouth College is preparing for a campaign to obtain capital for the building of a Memorial Athletic Field. This memorial will represent Dartmouth's tribute to its 90 dead heroes of the world war. The cost is estimated at $360,000.

Thiel College, of Greenville, Pa., has received the plans and specifications for the erection of a gymnasium at an estimated cost of $100,000. A $300,000 gymnasium campaign was recently conducted at a special mass-meeting of the students of Washington State College. It was voted unanimously to institute an addition of $10 to the tuition fee each semester until the required amount was raised. By this plan, Washington State will have the required amount in five years. Two gymnasiums will be built, first a man's and then a woman's.

ENGINEERS INSTRUCTED THROUGH MOVIES

Monday evening, February 11, after an excellent supper prepared by the Sphinx Honor Society, the members of the Engineering Society filed to the chapel to listen to the best lecture given before the society this year. That the subject was of general interest was shown by the large attendance attracted from several departments of the University.

There were four reels of motion pictures, entitled "From Ore to Finished Product," showing all the steps in the manufacture of steel pipe, including mining and transporting the ore, as well as rolling and drawing the pipe, surface mining in Lake Superior district and transportation of ores on the Great Lakes; illustrated the Bessemer and open hearth process of making steel. During the picture, Mr. E. E. Ellwood, of the National Tube Company, explained the details shown in the pictures and answered questions that arose.

Following the lecture, President W. C. Scott announced that the next meeting would be held in the second week of April, at which time the officers of the society for next year will be nominated. Members were urged to consider the matter and come prepared to the April meeting.

G. W. DEBATORS WIN FROM WEST VIRGINIA U. TEAM

The traditions of George Washington in intercollegiate debating were again upheld by Moore, Cleveland and Hodge, who defeated the University of West Virginia in a hard-fought contest before a record crowd at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night, March 11. The question was, "Resolved, That the employees, as such, in each industrial corporation should be permitted to elect from their own ranks members of the board of directors of the corporation, all directors to have equal rights and powers."

George Washington debated the affirmative side of the query, winning by a two-to-one vote. Dean Person called the meeting to order and introduced Hon. Lester J. Dickinson, Representative from Iowa, who presided.

The judges were Frank Washington Ballou, superintendent of schools in the District of Columbia; Orrin Lester, associate director of the savings division, Treasury Department; and James N. Rule, national director of the Junior Red Cross. It must be said to the credit of the West Virginia boys that the debate was hardly a walk-away.

AN OPEN LETTER

Dear Mr. Editor:

I thought you might be interested in reading some of my experiences. I am a freshman and I had just registered at the college here, and was standing in the hall when a couple of fellows whom I had never seen before came up to me and slapped me on the back and asked me a lot of questions. Out home strangers don't speak to one another that way, and when they asked me if I was a rosh and had I registered, where I was from, was I boarding, how much money did I have, etc., I got kind of scared. But they didn't mean any harm, and were just trying to make me feel at home, one of them said. First thing that happened, one of them asked me to come up to his—I think he said "frat club"—that night. He pointed out how I could meet so many of the boys going to school here. I told him I had a date with my roommate that night, but he said I should bring him, too. That was awful nice of him, because Mack ain't been out much, and as long as they wanted to entertain us I reckon I was right in saying "Yes," although I don't know how it was the boys took such a liking to me, unless it's just my way.

Well, anyway, Mack and I went up, and they must have expected us, because there was a whole bunch of fellows there waiting for us. They grabbed my hand and said as how they was glad to see us, and one of them hid my hat and coat, and soon was making us smoke cigars and things. I offered to pay for our smokes, as I reckon that's the right thing to do, but the fellow just laughed and said it was all right, that if they weren't paid for now they soon would be. Well, they got to asking us some more questions like what our fathers did, did we have lots of Jack (they didn't give his last name), and could we play the piano, saxophone, poker and a lot of other things. One of the fellows asked Mack if he was interested in frats, and Mack said that he had always been just a casual observer, but if they was, all like this he probably could work up some interest. Then they led us around the house and showed us a lot of pictures of fellows; some of them were funny looking, and Mack asked him if they was the Democratic party before the steam roller hit it. Mack's that way; always joshing somebody.

By this time there was a lot more fellows there, and we all got to cutting up a bit. I reckon they was having an election of some kind there, because when one of the fellows was talking to us another fellow came up to him and asked him if he had voted yet. He said no, and left us. But pretty soon I saw one of the "frat club" men shove another towards us and I heard him tell him to "get over and talk to them birds awhile." After awhile one of the fellows backed in and they took Mack upstairs. He was only up there a few minutes, and when he came down everybody rushed over to him and hollered that they was glad to see him. I couldn't say nothing different with Mack, and so I don't know what they was making all the fuss about. We had something to eat, and they went home. On the way home I noticed a button on Mack that I hadn't seen before, and when I asked him where he got it he said he sternal a paper up to the house and one of the fellows give him the button, but he couldn't remember his name. He said the fellow told him to take care of the button and not to leave it off him, so I reckon it was worth something, although it didn't look very expensive. Sincerely yours, N. S. R.

MEDICAL MAKES PROGRESS

The Medical School is making good progress in its work, Dean Borden states, and is maintaining its usual high standards. At present the Medical School has a registration of 111. Several new professors have been added to the faculty this year, and it is planned for next year to secure more full-time professors if possible.

GIRLS' RESERVE TOSSERS DOWNED BY ALEXANDRIA

Opponents Run Up Big Score at Outset; Walter Reed Nurses Give
G. W. the Count.

Thursday, March 10, the girls' reserve team went to Alexandria to play the Alexandria High School team. The high school team scored 20 points on the G. W. girls in the first 5 minutes of play before the reserves had woke up, but at the end of the first half the score of the Alexandria team was still 20, with 9 points gained for the reserves. The second half of the game was pretty evenly matched, and the final score was 26-13.

There was very little fouling, and the game was a very clean one. The G. W. forwards did some excellent work when they got their hands on the ball, but the high school center had the jump on G. W.'s center most of the time. For a team that has had as little chance to play, the reserves showed fine team work. Line-up:

Alexandria Position G. W.
Adams R. F. M. Mathews
Dienelt L. F. A. Mathews
Patterson C. Phillips
Steele S. C. Patterson
Davis R. G. Gallagher
Wattler L. G. Brewer
Substitutions—Bryan for Patterson, Driefus for Adams. Goals from floor—
M. Mathews (5); A. Mathews (1); Adams (2); Dienelt (10). Goals from foul—A. Mathews (1); Driefus (2).

Defeated by Nurses.

On Friday, March 11, the reserves took another defeat at the hands of the Walter Reed Hospital. The score was 32-8. The slippery condition of the floor and the noisiness of the crowd did much to disconcert the G.
W. girls, who are used to having comparative quiet during the game. The line-up was as follows:

Nurses Position G. W.
Price R. F. M. Mathews
Brown L. F. A. Mathews
Lindquist C. Phillips
Dixon S. C. Patterson
Minor R. G. Brewer
Allen L. G. Bell
Substitutions—Hood for Brown, Bryant for Patterson. Goals from floor—
M. Mathews (2); A. Mathews, Price (5); Brown (5); Hood (4). Goals from foul—M. Mathews, A. Mathews, Brown
(2); Hood (2).

When they play the nurses in a return game next week, on their own floor under more favorable conditions, the reserves have great hopes of winning.

A Law School squad has been organized, and a manager, Thelma Baines, elected. A captain will be chosen at the next practice. The team has challenged the reserve squad and the variety, and the manager is arranging a regular schedule of games with other teams. The purpose of the team is to make more spirit and to demonstrate the Law School pep.

FRESHMAN CO-ED WILL CAPTAIN GIRL SWIMMERS

Beatrice Woodford, Formerly of Central High, Praises Sport at G. W.

Miss Beatrice Woodford, freshman in the Department of Arts and Sciences, was recently elected captain of the girls' swimming team here at George Washington.

Miss Woodford was a member and manager of the Central High girls' swimming team last year. The new captain is confident that a successful swimming team can be developed at G. W. U. if more girls turn out and give more interest to this activity.

Next week the Buff and Blue swimmers will journey up to Central High and engage the high school swimmers in a return match. The College girls are certain they can turn the trick this time against the scholastic swimmers.

FRATERNITY BASKETBALL

Theta Delta Chi Winners of League
"A"; Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Champs of League "B."

By defeating Sigma Chi on March 10, Theta Delta Chi won the championship of League "A" and thereby got a chance in the playoff with the winner of League "B." The final score was 21-8, and the Theta Deltis were never in danger. Wright, of Theta Delta Chi, was the best goal shooter for his team. White Roberts shined for Sigma Chi. On the same night the Deltis took the measure of Sigma Nu by the score of 23-12. This was one of the hardest fought games of the season.

The final standing the leagues on March 17, 1921:

League "A."
	W.	L.	Pct.
Theta Delta Chi	3	0	1.000
Kappa Alpha	2	1	.666
Sigma Chi	1	2	.333
Kappa Sigma	0	3	.000

League "B."
	W.	L.	Pct.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	4	0	1.000
Delta Tau Delta	3	1	.750
Sigma Nu	2	2	.500
Sigma Phi Epsilon	1	3	.250
Phi Sigma Kappa	0	4	.000

Although the scores would indicate one-sided games, nevertheless the patrons of the Interfraternity basketball matches were given some snappy play on March 7. Phi Sigma Kappa started out like a whirlwind against Sigma Nu and negotiated three baskets in the first few minutes of play to none for their opponents. Sigma Nu soon got going, however, and defeated the Phi Sigs by a 26-12 score. Yates starred at shooting fouls, making four out of a like number of chances. Delta Tau Delta easily defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon on the same night by 28 to 14.
Colburn, of the Deltis, was the individual star of this match.

On March 14 Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Sigma Kappa played the game that was postponed from February 28 on account of the Junior play, which fell on the same night. The final score was 7-4 in favor of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Although the score was smaller than any other Interfraternity game
the Sig Eps easily outclassed the Ph Sigs. The particular characteristic of the game was the large number of fouls made by the Phi Sigma Kappas.

Phi Sigma Kappa Position S. P. E.
Jackson R. F. Marshall
Fell L. F. Lawson
Richardson C. Lannigan

On this same night Sigma Alpha Epsilon defeated Sigma Nu, 33-15.

G. W. CHEMISTS HEAR INTERESTING LECTURE

Dr. H. H. Custis, of Bureau of Animal Industry, Addresses Society.

At the March meeting of the G. W.
U. Chemical Society, Dr. H. H. Custis, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, addressed the society on subjects that were of much interest to the future chemists. Dr. Custis did not confine his talk to one subject, but began his address by telling of the methods used in attempting to "fix nitrogen." "Or, in other words, "to harness atmospheric nitrogen so it could be used in explosives." He then spoke of the chemical methods of preventing rust of iron. First painting, then treating the iron with a mixture containing rust itself, and later methods of dipping the iron into a solution of phosphoric acid, and finally treating iron with a coat of tin. The importance of the dye industry, transmission of photographs by electricity, and chemical action due to light also were among the subjects expounded upon by Dr. Custis.

The Chemical Society has started plans for their annual banquet, which will be held the latter part of April.
President Tibbetts appointed the following committee on arrangements:
Miss Marie O'Dea, chairman; Messrs.
Sandborn, Mottern and Correy. The attention of the society was directed to the expected visit to the United States of Mme. Curie, an expert on radium, who is coming to conduct experimental work along that line. Plans are being made for the society to attend in a body a reception which is to be given in Washington to Mme. Curie upon her arrival. Upon the completion of business, refreshments were served.
